Luxury Real Estate, Hospitality & Retail:
Brand Expression & Business

9th - 13th November 2026

Welcome

“As Honorary Director of the Luxury Real Estate, Hospitality & Retail Program, it is my distinct pleasure to introduce you to this immersive journey through the heart of luxury in Milan and Rome.

This course stands at the intersection of architecture, interior design, branding, and hospitality, offering participants an inside look at how the world’s most prestigious brands shape spaces into unforgettable experiences.

Guided by leading industry experts, this program combines site visits, exclusive lectures, and real-world encounters with those who define contemporary luxury.

You will not only explore exceptional spaces, but also understand the commercial logic, governance, and brand strategy behind them.”

Discover the Spaces Where Luxury Lives

Academia Cerebra is Europe's premier boutique academy dedicated exclusively to luxury, fashion, and the creative industries. Established in the UK and accredited by the British Accreditation Council (BAC), the Academy's flagship programs and short courses are created with and taught by industry CEOs, brand directors, and global thought leaders.

Designed for the next generation of internationally minded professionals, Academia Cerebra blends academic rigour with immersive, global learning to provide a distinct competitive edge in the fashion and luxury sectors.

In February 2026, Academia Cerebra proudly introduces Europe's first one-week immersive journey into Luxury Real Estate, Interiors, and Hospitality. Held across Milan and Rome, the program explores how the world's most prestigious brands transform properties into emotionally resonant experiences through design excellence, craftsmanship, and brand storytelling.

Today, luxury spaces are no longer passive environments. They are strategic assets that communicate brand value, shape global perception, and generate long-term returns. This program is designed to equip participants with the insight, language, and perspective required to lead at the intersection of luxury, space, and strategy.

Why this Program Matters?

Luxury brands today are creators of environments, destinations, and experiences.

From branded residences to fashion-led hotels and flagship retail spaces, real estate and hospitality have become central to brand strategy and value creation.

This program offers a rare opportunity to understand how these spaces are conceived, financed, developed, and managed – directly from the professionals behind them.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the program, participants will be able to:

- Analyse luxury spaces as strategic brand and business assets.
- Understand investment logic, value creation, and long-term brand impact.
- Decode how design, craftsmanship, and spatial identity support commercial objectives.
- Navigate professional conversations across luxury, real estate, hospitality, and advisory roles.

Maria Cecilia Pepponi

Program Leader

Maria Cecilia Pepponi is an accomplished author and lecturer specialising on Image, Visual & Interior Design for luxury brands.

After graduating summa cum laude in architecture, she pursued an international career, including 12 years in Germany as art director for interior and corporate design projects, and over 19 years as Global Head of Visual & Image for the Interior Design Studio of Armani Casa, collaborating directly with Giorgio Armani.

With a strategic vision and engaging leadership, Maria Cecilia combines technical expertise with a keen entrepreneurial sensibility and holistic project management skills. She is passionate about inspiring projects that bring added value to the brands and their users, applying her expertise to an identity-building vision of shared intent and values.

She has been awarded the “Grand Prix” of the Deutscher Designer Club for the Corporate Design of Allianz and continues to distinguish herself in the design and lifestyle sector with her creativity and intuitive sensitivity.

What will you Explore?

Luxury Real Estate - Evolution of branded residences, investments, returns, and image value for brands.

Luxury Retail - From flagship stores to experiential design and visual identity.

Luxury Design - How craftsmanship, materiality, and design define timeless prestige.

Luxury Hospitality - Branded hotels and resorts by fashion houses such as Armani, Bulgari, and Fendi.

Luxury Wellness - Evolution and growing importance
